

ABOUT THE SHOW

"Top of the Shop" is a site-specific comedy written for the Streatham Hill Theatre, adapted from the short play "Hell is a Bingo Club" written by Craig White and directed by Juanita Mora. Michael Kazmierczek is not a bingo person, but somehow he finds himself being dragged through the worst interview in history and pressured into accepting a job he knows nothing about. Well connected GM Andy makes him an offer he can't refuse, using veteran bingo manager Nikki and hapless sidekick Mick as pawns in his game. Something suspicious is going on, but will Michael see it before he loses his mind?

Top of the Shop

Written by Craig White, Directed by Juanita Mora

Cast in order of appearance:

Rachel Summers – Nikki Swanson

Rachel Summers received a Masters in Acting for Screen at the Royal Central School of Speech and Drama. Her theatre credits include: A Novel Approach at Etcetera Theatre, Macbeth at the Cockpit Theatre, Dante: The Inferno at Leicester Square Theatre and Love Isn't Enough at The Tricycle Theatre. She has voiced television commercials and made film appearances in teen horror, The Coven and independent film, Calloused Hands.

Sammy Attalah as Mick O'Donoghue

Sammy has recently graduated from Mountview Academy of Theatre Arts. Has performed at the BAC, Edinburgh Fringe, Camden Fringe, CASA Latin American Theatre Festival and most recently at the Bridewell in a performance of Welcome to Thebes by Moira Buffini.

Angus Chisholm as Michael Kazmierczek

Angus trained in Acting at Arts Ed, London and most recently performed the solo show Brazil as part of the Edinburgh Fringe Festival. Recent film credits include the Too Many Friends (Alternate Video) for Placebo and J.M Barrie in a short film about the house in which he wrote the famous Peter Pan. Spotlight: 9734-7838-1799

Darrel Bailey as Andy Gold

Darrel trained at Mountview Academy of Theatre Arts and his credits include Twelfth Night (Oen Book/Bar Theatre), Much Ado About Nothing (Iris Theatre), A Foot Through The Door (Above The Arts Theatre), Miniaturists (Arcola Theatre), MOJO (LOST Theatre), Oedius (Almeida Theatre, Mark & The Marked (Box Clever Theatre), Romeo & Juliet, Macbeth, Othello and Much Ado About Nothing (Young Shakespeare Company).

Directed by Juanita Mora

Juanita is a Royal Central School of Speech & Drama graduate, trained at University of California, Berkeley.. She was assistant director to actor and director James Purefoy in King Lear. She has worked as a talent coordinator in Hollywood. Directing credits include: Henry V: Agincourt 600 (Peckham Asylum Chapel), Colony Part 1 (Underground Arts & Humanities Festival: Kings College), Chorizo & Bad Romance (The Roundhouse), Que Pasa Con Ramona? (The Oval House Theatre).

Written by Craig White

Craig attended the Edinburgh Fringe in 2011 and was named "most irritating front row audience member" by a comedian that may or may not have been Micky Flanagan. His writing credits include an article in Private Eye 1334 and HIABC (Waterloo East). He has also written contributory pieces for Heart Streatham.

THE STREATHAM HILL THEATRE

In association with Beacon Bingo and Casino

3rd

PROGRAMME

SATURDAY 26TH NOVEMBER 2016

WELCOME TO THE STREATHAM HILL THEATRE

Since 1929 this building has hosted the finest names in theatre, from John Gielgud to Ralph Richardson, becoming synonymous with high society and inspiring Streatham's love affair with the stage. In 1962 the curtain closed for the final time, and ushered in a new era of social gaming which continues to this day at Beacon Bingo.

Take a tour through the corridors and hidden rooms in our building and wonder in its history. Drink in the atmosphere with a martini in hand from our bespoke cocktail bar. Catch the buzz with South London's best bingo experience. Dance the night away to the smoothest Jazz and revel in the majesty of your surroundings.

Tonight we open our doors and our hearts to the passion that made this building the pride of the community in its heyday, and for the first time in 54 years, the curtain opens once again on the Streatham Hill Theatre. Our new preview show will have you rolling in the aisles and gasping for breath as you take your seat in history.

Finally, theatre is home.

Craig White

Manager, Beacon Bingo & Cashino

TONIGHT'S EVENTS

7PM

Theatre tour compliments of Streatham Theatre Company

7:30PM

Bingo, opened by former Mayor of Lambeth,
Councillor Donatus Anyanwu

8PM

Second half of theatre tour

8:30PM

The National Bingo Game

9:30PM

Preview Show
"Top of the Shop"

10PM

"Between the Lines"
Jazz quartet

