INTRODUCTION TO DIRECTING

led by Mhairi Grealis

We are offering this great opportunity to our members, with places available to members of other local theatre groups too. You would have to join STC to take part, but it's only £10 for a full year, and there's no further obligation.

Led by trained professional Mhairi Grealis, this 6 week course for beginners will look at aspects of the craft of directing for stage: from working with actors to making things look good on stage.

Whether you're an aspiring director or just curious, this course will not only offer unique insights into how stories are brought to life but give you skills that range from textual analysis for performance, to communicating effectively with the technical team (sound, lighting, costume), and managing the project that is putting on a show.

There may be an opportunity to direct short plays, including from our Streatham Shorts programme, at a showcase in November/December.

For members only, but it's cheap and easy to join online. If you are not a member, Membership is only £10 per annum.

Course Prices: £10 per session, or £50 for all 6 sessions, lowering to £40 if paid at or before the start of the first lesson.

You can pay for the full course online in advance at
