Reading & Auditions

A busy April for
Theatre in Streatham

- * Everyone enjoyed Cinderella
- * Themed reading of 'Allo 'Allo
- * Auditions for Breaking the Code
- * New theatre in Streatham

Cinderella Success

Oh yes it was!

All those who came along to see, and all those who took part, in our first panto had such a great time we're already thinking about next year! It was great to see children having fun and asking the actors for autographs, and the adults having a good laugh at those jokes which go over the kids heads (at least we hope they do!).

'Allo 'Allo: themed reading

Tuesday 14 April at 7pm for 7.30pm start at Vinters*

A just for fun reading of the famous 'Allo

'Allo - a chance to try out that French accent or to just 'leesen verr-ry carrre-foo-ly'. We'll provide bread and cheese (and maybe knockwurst) - just bring what you drink, and ideally dress the part: It is I, Le Clerc. Members free, others £3. More...

Breaking the Code: Open Auditions

Weds 15, Thurs 16 April: 7.30pm at Vinters*

Sat 18 April: 2pm at Vinters*

Auditions for our Streatham Festival production in July, about Enigma code-breaker and father of computing Alan Turing (more here). You only need to come to one session. Note you will need to become a member if cast. We'd also like to meet anyone interested in front of house or backstage.

Free and open to all 18+. More...

New theatre in Streatham

Megabowl redevelopment

You may have been following the local news and debate about the new theatre proposed as part of the Megabowl redevelopment. It won't be a theatre just for us - it will need an operator who can generate enough income to make it sustainable. The hope is they will stage visiting shows and produce their own, while allowing groups like us to make occasional use of the theatre. We've been happy to offer our input on the deliberations, based on our local and wider theatre experiences.
