AN INTRODUCTION TO ACTING not just for actors!

led by Mhairi Grealis

Want to build your confidence, present yourself better at work, or just make new friends locally?

Announcing An Introduction to Acting our season of acting classes, on Wednesday evenings from 19 April - not just for actors!

You may remember that in December last year we announced that STC are one of 165 community groups throughout the UK to win a £500 grant from Skipton Building Society to run a series of Acting Classes. We're delighted to say that these classes will be starting on 19 April and will run initially for 6 sessions.

What You Need to Know

The classes will be held at Studio 2, Vinters, 1b Sunnyhill Road, Streatham, SW16 2UG on Wednesday evenings from 8 pm until 10 pm from 19 April to 24 May.

This six-week course will take you through the fundamentals of the British style of acting, identifying intentions, obstacles and tactics. In a friendly, relaxed and welcoming environment, you'll explore what acting is and how it works to create a piece of theatre for performance. Acting is great not only for those interested in stagecraft, but for building confidence, improving public speaking and presentation and of course, making friends. Why not come along and give us a try!

The teacher is Mhairi Grealis, a Streatham local and a professional director and playwright. Mhairi trained classically in directing at the Royal Central School of Speech and Drama. Her work in directing has been shortlisted for awards. Mhairi has been working in Creative Learning with adults and young people for fourteen years, in venues such as the Tricycle Theatre, Richmond Theatre, and the Trafalgar Studios. She has been running acting classes for adults for most of that time.

Join STC and save £20 on the six-week course!

The cost per session is only £5 for STC members and £10 for non-members. STC membership
