SECOND TUESDAY EVENTS ARE BACK ONLINE

We've had a great response to our idea to read a play reading using Zoom online conferencing

Don't miss our Second Tuesday event this week, on Tuesday April 14th at 7.30 pm. Join us read Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream, connecting online through Zoom.

The script is available online from: Shakespeare.mit.edu/midsummer/full.html

It would be great if everyone who intends to join us could have a copy in front of them. We're going to concentrate on the scenes involving the Mechanicals: Quince, Starveling, Flute, Bottom, etc., as we've been thinking of performing these scenes later this year in Palace Road Nature Garden.

And even if you can't think of anything worse than reading Shakespeare, and you can't get hold of a script, this isolation lark's rubbish isn't it, so just join us anyway to say hi and have a catch-up.

Please register through Eventbrite to be sent the joining instructions.

If you are a writer, or want to have a go at writing, get started on a 10 minute piece for our regular Streatham Shorts programme (here's a past flyer for it). Or if you are writing a longer piece perhaps we can potentially read and/or stage it when normal service resumes.

We are also putting membership subscriptions on hold. So if you are a member, or join us, during the shutdown, your subscription expiry date will be extended for the length of the shutdown. For example, if your subscription expiry was April and the shutdown lasts 3 months, the new expiry will be July.

Please keep following us on social media and keep an eye on the website for updates and any future events.

We wish you all the best during the current crisis and look forward to seeing you when things get back to normal!
