Productions for 2022

We'd love to resume staging productions in 2022 but there's quite a bit of uncertainty still.

What will we be allowed to do? And where and when?

Obviously, any rehearsals and performances will be subject to any prevailing COVID restrictions, either generally or specific to particular venues.

Therefore we are making plans...read on.

1: Our next pantomime

STC loves panto: We'd like to stage our 4th pantomime in 2022, oh yes we would!

At the recent January panto reading event, the consensus was that yes we should do a panto in 2022, but that trying to do so as early as Easter isn't practical. Staging a panto is a big project, though it can be great fun too!

So perhaps we should do an early summer panto (perhaps outdoors), or maybe to tie in with the Streatham Festival (usually in October)?

To get things underway so we'll be ready to move quickly, we're putting together a small production team now. They will help select suitable dates and venues, sort out the script, identify key people, and plan and prepare to kick off the production. So when we know we can go ahead, we are as ready as possible and can quickly engage cast, designers, crew etc.

So if you'd like to get involved in this team please do let us know (email info@streathamtheatre.org.uk). Most things can probably be handled by email but there may be occasional meetings or site visits.

And, if you'd like to take part in the panto (on or off stage), watch out for further updates!

2: Drama Production

As mentioned above a panto is a major piece of work, so for a potential second production, we're thinking of something more 'conventional' - a play by a well-known author, with a small cast and a simple setting.

In the past we've done things like Alan Ayckbourn's Neighbourhood Watch, though that did have a quite a large cast.

Is there a suitable play that you would like to see, like to take part in, or even like to direct? Please do let us know (email info@streathamtheatre.org.uk).

Our next event will be on Tuesday 8th February.
Watch out for details.
