Accents for Actors - a masterclass
In Person @ VINTERS

Join us in person as Mike Jennett shares his expertise and tips

7.00pm for 7.30pm start

Mike is well known to many of us in STC as a member, actor, and most recently as one of our committee. You may have seen and /or heard him (or even acted with him), in one of our STC productions, including Breaking the Code, Peter and The Woolf, Hamlet, Sunday Morning at the Centre of the World or most recently Sisters in the Snow. As well as 'typical South London', he has perfected Flemish/Dutch and Russian accents, to name but 2.

Mike studied acting at City Lit and has many other film and stage credits to his name.

Here's how Mike describes the masterclass on Tuesday:

"A brief talk about the anatomy of voice and how sounds are made with a diagram or two.
Then myself talking generally. then I will speak in an accent, brief discussion, another accent, brief discussion, another accent, brief discussion and so on."

There will be a chance to have a go yourself and practice some of the most popular stage and screen accents.
