Accidental Death of an Anarchist by Dario Fo - Next Tuesday, November 14th!

A bang up to the minute reworking by Tom Basden of Dario Fo's classic farce, this play takes aim at the ineptitude of the police force, ruthlessly exposing the corruption and incompetence of the institution...

An Anarchist has fallen to his death from a police station window. The question is:

did he jump or was he thrown?

As the police attempt to avoid yet another scandal, a mysterious imposter is arrested and brought in for questioning.

Seizing the chance to put on a show, he leads the officers in an ever more ridiculous reconstruction of their official account, hilariously exposing the cover-ups, corruption and profound idiocy at the heart of the police.

November 14th at Vinters, 7.30 pm. Doors open 7.00 pm. Led by Helen Mason.
A just-for-fun reading. Take part or listen in.

December 12th. Save the date!

Thank you Ian for 10 great years!

At our Chairman's birthday event in October, we said a grateful thank you to Ian Freeman, one of our founder members who has recently resigned from the committee due to other commitments, including as Honourable Treasurer of the Royal Variety Charity. David presented Ian with a Purple Plaque to commemorate his ten years on the committee. Very apt, as Ian is also a member of the British Plaque Society. We'll miss your company and conviviality, Ian. Keep in touch!
